

Our Community Project

Moray Ralph has been a leader in community development and organisational management across Australia for over 20 years. Having led and managed diverse organisations, including the Paupiyala Tjarutja Aboriginal Corporation in remote Western Australia and Red Cross's division in Northern NSW, Moray has a focus on strong governance, strategy and team cohesion.

Moray has an MBA from Southern Cross University and a wealth of experience in financial management, compliance and reporting. He leads teams from big to small throughout the community development lifespan - from achieving successful funding submissions, to creating measurable impacts and outcomes, to providing final acquittal statements, financial and annual reports to stakeholders.

In his personal life, Moray is a devoted father of three, husband, avid ocean and mountain adventurer, who has a passion for the natural world and the people who inhabit it.
